Look Beyond The Decor

Buying a new home is exciting! It's easy to fall in love. You know what type of counter tops you want and the layout would be perfect for house warming party. Just like when you buy a new car you have to look under the hood, when you buy a new house you have to look beyond the decor to make sure you don't have any surprises. Most lenders and buyers insist on a home inspection by a professional, but there are some additional things to consider when reviewing those items.

The 5 Most Common Home Insurance Claims

Home insurance is necessary to protect one of the largest investments you'll likely make in your lifetime. Like all insurance, you always hope you never have to use it, but it's reassuring to know that you're covered just in case. According to the Insurance Information Institute, 1 in 15 insured homes have a claim every year. Here's what they say the 5 most common claims are...
